

Our application deadline for the fall term is May 1st, 2016. Here are the admission requirements for international students too:

For International Freshman Students

Our admissions Counselor is knowledgeable about the educational systems of other countries. We consider every application for admission on its individual merits and do not use formulas to make decisions.

Most entering freshmen admitted to UNL have completed the following course work:

- English, including courses in literature, grammar, and composition courses
- Native Language, including courses in literature and composition courses
- Mathematics, including courses in algebra, geometry, and pre-calculus or trigonometry
- Natural Sciences, including courses in biology, chemistry, or physics
- Social Sciences, including courses in world history, economics, geography, or sociology

ACT and SAT tests are not required for admission to UNL but may be required for direct entry into majors in the College of Architecture, the College of Engineering and the Hixson-Lied College of Fine and Performing Arts.

For questions about high school/secondary school documents to submit and grades required, please refer to our website at

For International Transfer Students

Admission for transfer students (students who have already begun university-level work and wish to transfer to UNL to complete their bachelor's degree) is selective, based on your cumulative and recent-term marks and grades and the breadth and depth of your previous university program.

If you wish to transfer you will need to:

- Meet freshman admission standards as well as maintain satisfactory academic progress in your postsecondary studies.
- Submit secondary school records along with your university records.

-Review our Freshman Admission Requirements for information about freshman admissibility standards.

As far as the number of vacancies we don't have a limit. Regarding the available courses that depends on the degree program the students are interested in and their English Proficiency. If they meet the English Proficiency requirements then they should be able to take any class they want, if they also meet any other required prerequisites.

Please visit global.unl.edu for more information for our international students.

Please let me know if you need any other information.

Best regards,

Paul
